

RAPS COURT DELAY

House Debates Postponement of Knickerbocker Men's Trials.

Delay by the district attorney's office in bringing to trial the men under indictment for the Knickerbocker Theater disaster was censured in the House Friday by Representative Henry Allen Cooper of Wisconsin. He warned that powerful influence will delay action as long as possible. Representative Walsh of Massachusetts replied to the attack.

Representative Cooper in discussing the Knickerbocker disaster and his conviction that the trials have been too long delayed said:

"Upward of six months have elapsed and all the evidence was in the hands of the authorities a few days ago. Nothing has been done. Nothing has been done or has been done up to this time. If there is anything that showed the necessity of reformation in court procedure, and especially in criminal procedure, it is the great delay in this case. Ninety-seven innocent persons have been confined in a place which they thought safe, and made to suffer an agonizing death. Soldiers have been killed, and the innocent have been killed. Some of my own personal acquaintances were among the victims—one a young woman, mother of two beautiful children. The young, the beautiful, the brave were slaughtered as the result of incompetence and greed. The facts show that it could not have been anything else. Six months have elapsed, nothing has been done, and all the time within a few rods of the courthouse."

Holds Case Unique.

"There could be no other case comparable in importance to the trial of ninety-seven persons in that theater. I know that there are powerful influences which tend to delay the trial of these cases as long as it can be prevented. I myself years ago was an officer in the prosecutions, and I know how money, guilty money, will do anything to delay prosecutions."

In replying, Representative Walsh reviewed the case from the viewpoint of an attorney, as follows:

"There has been something done. The gentleman probably has not followed the Washington papers recently. There have been denials in those cases. Arguments have been had, I believe, in all cases except one, and they are awaiting the decision of the court."

"The gentleman well knows that they were indicted within sixty days after the accident happened. There were many other cases pending at that time, and the district attorney has to have some order of procedure for cases."

Speedy Trial Expected.

"Mr. Chairman, I am sure we are very much gratified to have the indictment conveyed to the people of the District that guilty money is probably being used to delay the trial of cases, when as matter of fact the indictments were found, I think, within sixty days after the accident happened. I have not talked with an official connected with the district attorney's office in this city, but there is no reason why these cases, when the demurrers have been settled, if the contention of the government is sustained, should not receive a speedy trial. I think you know of anything that has happened which would furnish the basis of a statement that any undue or improper means were being used to delay the trial of these cases. There are other cases pending in the District where people have lost their lives as a result of willful premeditation on somebody's part. These cases have not been tried. Of course, I can understand that people who have lost friends and relatives and acquaintances in the Knickerbocker disaster, the architect and the inspector out and hang them on a tree, and that is a very understandable thing, but this is considerable of a District. It has its full share of crimes, misdemeanors, and felonies, and it is the duty of the government to keep the cases in the court, and the cases are under consideration, and when the question is determined, if the contention of the prosecution is sustained, the cases will be tried in due course and the guilty parties punished."

POSITION OF MAJ. GORDON.

Declines to Enter Into Discussion of Charges.

United States Attorney Gordon yesterday declined to enter into a discussion of the charges made on the floor of the House yesterday by Representative Henry A. Cooper of Wisconsin, that powerful influences are at work to delay the trial of the five men charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of ninety-seven people in the Knickerbocker Theater disaster. His record for expedition in the prosecution for itself, the prosecutor suggested.

While Maj. Gordon will not talk for publication, his friends point out, when the theater collapsed January 28 last the grand jury was in the midst of the Morse inquiry, and as soon as the grand jury had reached its verdict and made a finding in the case Maj. Gordon began the presentation of testimony in the grand jury in the Knickerbocker case. There was an immense amount of technical details of building construction and evidence as to the duties, individual and collective, of the architect, builder, iron constructor, cement mason, and electrician, and every other matter was dropped and the entire attention of the grand jurors centered on the Knickerbocker case.

The indictment is an intricate one, but its preparation was rushed by Maj. Gordon and the grand jury reported its finding April 3. The defendants were summoned to plead April 21 and the grand jury was by the court in which to file demurrers or motions to quash the indictment. This was the grand jury's duty. There are ten or eleven lawyers employed by the defense, and it has been difficult to get a date on which the majority of them might be present in court to take up the argument of the demurrers.

A tentative date was arranged by Maj. Gordon for yesterday, but because of Justice McLean's illness, and because of lunacy hearings, he could not find time to hear the Knickerbocker case. The justice has been ordered to stay and will give the entire day to the argument.

Col. Carl Reichmann, infantry, at the Army War College, Washington barracks, has been ordered to Chicago for duty.

TRIP HASTENED END FOR ROCKEFELLER

Visit to Birthplace With His Brother, John D., Brought on Fatal Attack.

By the Associated Press.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., June 24.—To all but relatives and his closest friends the death of William Rockefeller today at his estate near here was unexpected. While he lay fighting stubbornly against death behind the guarded gates of his beautiful acres, no hint was given that he even was indisposed.

Death struck down the aged man of finance just as his own tomb was nearing completion. A year ago workmen began building a pure white granite mausoleum for him on the highest ridge in the Sleepy Hollow cemetery, half a mile south of his estate. It is almost complete now, and in a few weeks the bodies of Mr. Rockefeller and his wife, who preceded him to the grave, will be placed within the $250,000 tomb.

The two wealthy brothers, John D. and William—journeyed last week to the farm on which both of them were born near Richmond, in Tioga county. For three days they remained there, reviving memories of their boyhood. It was the exhaustion from the trip, which Mr. Rockefeller's doctors said, weakened him just before his fatal illness.

Cold Followed Motor Trip.

The two brothers returned to their estates from Tioga county last Friday night. Tired though he was, William insisted on motoring to New York, where important business matters arose the following day. He was caught in heavy rains in New York, and shortly after midnight the cold which he had caught became serious. He was taken to his home in Tarrytown on Sunday. They found Mr. Rockefeller suffering an acute attack of indigestion, which was followed by a severe kidney trouble began to trouble him again and the cold developed into pneumonia. Gradually the indomitable spirit fought against the disease that gripped him more strongly each hour.

"Are you despondent?" he asked one of the nurses attending him on Tuesday.

"No," she replied.

Refused Liquid Food.

Thursday Mr. Rockefeller lapsed into unconsciousness. He was taken into unconsciousness, and he refused to eat or drink. He refused nourishment and toward the end he had to be forcibly fed.

"I don't want it," he said when liquid was offered him yesterday. The flat tone of his refusal was compared by those who heard it to Mr. Rockefeller's manner in business conferences, once his mind had been made up to oppose a thing.

He made no final requests, nor spoke any last words. He faced death as he had lived, speaking only when it seemed necessary, and then but a few words. It was said that when the doctor spoke of the place upon his tactfulness and self-possession to one of his daughters.

"Father was never demonstrative," she told him.

Last night Mr. Rockefeller's breathing grew heavier, and from then until 4:40 o'clock this morning, when he expired, oxygen was administered continuously.

Rector to Conduct Service.

Although a Baptist, Mr. Rockefeller, who lived upon his estate attended services at St. Mary's Episcopal Church at Scarborough, a short distance north along the Albany post road, and the rector of that church, Rev. Dr. C. W. Baldwin, will conduct his funeral services at the home.

There will be no music at the funeral of Mr. Rockefeller, tentatively set for next Monday afternoon. From the services at the home, which are to be private, the body will be conveyed to the receiving vault in Sleepy Hollow cemetery, there to remain until the mausoleum is finished.

The Rockefeller tomb, a tall square pile of granite with four Ionic columns on each side, and a pyramid of stone at the top, overlooks the Hudson on the west and the edge of the estate of John D. Rockefeller on the east, where the Pocantico hills rise from the valley. Just a few feet to the north is the tomb of John D. Archibald, whose great factor in the upbuilding of the oil industry. Down the slope to the south are the remains of Andrew Carnegie, who with in rich sheltering walls, and a little farther on, with only a simple headstone, lies the body of Washington Irving.

Wall Surrounds Tomb.

Not far away the Pocantico is spanned by a bridge with Mr. Rockefeller had constructed to replace the "Headless Horseman" bridge, where Irving's famed character, Ichabod Crane, met dire misfortune.

A circular wall of stone, overlaid with a brick wall, extends from the Rockefeller tomb above every other street and mansion in Sleepy Hollow. His name does not appear on the place he chose to rest. The only words upon the tomb are these, cut in two lines across the front of it:

"Thou hast made us for Thyself, and our heart shall never be at rest until at last it rests in Thee."

FREDERICK HAS BIG FETE FOR MARINES

Absence of Gov. Ritchie Only Drawback—Continue Gettysburg March.

Special Dispatch to The Star.

CAMP PELAND, MARINE CORPS EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, FAIR GROUNDS, FREDERICK, Md., June 24.—Because Gov. Ritchie was unable to visit this city today for a mammoth celebration of Maryland day, the 6,000 marines on march from Quantico, Va., to Gettysburg, Pa., will break camp at daylight tomorrow and set out for Camp Haines, named for Brig. Gen. Henry C. Haines of the Marine Corps, and which is located near Thurmont, Md., a distance of eighteen miles from here.

In honor of the occasion of the marines' visit, it was the plan of the special committee in charge of the celebration of Maryland day to have Gov. Ritchie come to Frederick in order to extend the greetings and best wishes of the state to the sea-faring marines. Had the governor been present, the festivities of today would have been extended until tomorrow, and the marines would have broken camp Monday morning. On behalf of the Navy Department, Acting Secretary Theodore Roosevelt sent a letter to the governor on the telephone at Annapolis last night and extended an invitation to visit the marine camp.

The governor stated that he was extremely sorry that urgent business prevented him from accepting the invitation and sent Col. D. J. Markey, commanding officer of the 1st Regiment, Maryland National Guard, as his personal representative.

Among the thousands who gave the marines a rousing reception when they came to a halt at the fair grounds shortly before noon today were Col. Markey and L. A. Mullinix, president of the board of aldermen of the town of Frederick. At 2 o'clock a deputation of prominent citizens, headed by Mayor D. C. Culler, called on Gen. Smedley D. Butler and extended to him the hospitality of the town. Mayor Culler was accompanied by James H. Lamb, president of the Rotary Club of Frederick; G. H. Staley, president of the Kiwanis Club; K. S. Brown, president of the Sons of the Revolution; W. M. Storm, vice-commander of the Maryland American Legion; and H. B. Baker, D. S. Weinbrenner and Charles C. Carby, member of the board of aldermen.

Brig. Gen. Logan Peland, U. S. M. C., who commanded the famous 5th Marine regiment during the war, arrived early this morning at the headquarters in Quantico, made the rounds of this historic city, and visited the house in which Barbara Fritchie lived at the time Gen. Stonewall Jackson and his army passed through Frederick in the city.

During the afternoon the marines, equipped with a historical pamphlet issued by Gen. Butler's headquarters in Quantico, made the rounds of this historic city, and visited the house in which Barbara Fritchie lived at the time Gen. Stonewall Jackson and his army passed through Frederick in the city.
